LivFit The Ultimate Weight Management Program

Additional LivFit Program Information

A balanced approach.

The LivFit program teaches healthy, balanced principles. We do not advocate fad diets, low-calorie diets, pills or supplements. We teach “real life” nutrition that the whole family can follow. We believe in changing long-term habits, not offering short-term solutions, so that the changes you make become permanent, allowing you to maintain your new lifestyle without struggle and relapse.

Trained, experienced professionals.

At LivFit, we offer you the “best of the best” Our LivFit team is made up of experienced professionals who are experts in their fields. Our program coordinator is a registered and licensed dietitian/nutritionist who has specialized in weight management since 1983. Our life coach has over 20 years of experience as Health Education Specialist and has been involved in the LivFit program since 1996. The exercise team comes from a variety of backgrounds, all in the area of exercise science, with a minimum of a bachelor’s degree. We are all here to help you, and will give you the knowledge, support and motivation you need in order to make the changes you desire. All of our professionals are available for one-on-one private consultation as needed.

Behavior change is the key.

Most people are aware that diet and exercise are necessary for successful weight loss. However, there’s a third component that is often left out of weight management programs, and that is the behavior component. This component deals with learning to control your thought processes so that you stay in a positive state of mind, learning to overcome emotional eating and obstacles that life throws your way, learning to manage the stress in your life, and adjusting your self-image so that you become the person you want to be. Our behavior specialist provides the “glue” that holds all of this in place. This is a truly unique facet of our program, and is one of the reasons that LivFit participants are successful for the long term.

Built-in flexibility.

The structure of the LivFit program allows for a great deal of flexibility with classes and work-out schedules. For example, you may attend any of the ongoing educational classes at any location and at any time that best suits your schedule on that particular week. Likewise, you could attend educational classes at one facility, but work with an exercise trainer at another location. We will work with you in order to give you as much flexibility and as many options as possible, in order to assure your success.

We look forward to working with you, and helping you achieve your goals.
